Nyack, NY*

Tasked with being the mall security guard for the Burlington clothing and goods store. Using sensors to keep items from being stolen at the gate. Also helped guide customers to their desired destinations and organized helped the store during late hours.

Accomplishments

Managed some volleyball and soccer games for SNHU's Athletics Department program by making sure everything was in place before and during the game. Watched over new workers and taught them how to be proper cashiers at Cinemagic and how to properly welcome customers. I worked full-time at Shell Oil for a week to spot one of our missing workers, this included me having to do their share of work too both during the morning and night shifts. As one of my NCAA Cross Country college team captains, I was one of the leading factors as to why SNHU had its first men's team qualify to make it to nationals.

Clubs

SNHU Gaming Club, Penmen Press.

Community Service

SNHU XC mandatory community service work, 10 hours per season.

Skills/Support Roles

Experienced with Microsoft Word, Photoshop, InDesign, Adobe Illustrator, and Clip Studio Paint. Strong endurance and stamina, Tech-savvy, Great Artistic Skills, Creative Writer, Aptitude to Learn, Multilingual(specifically French and English).

Formal Analysis

Hello! My name is Cedric Jocelyn and I am a Graphic Designer. Animation is my primary interest. Since I was a little child, I have been researching the animation and creative traditions of Japan. They motivated me, and I spent my entire childhood around them. For me, manga and comic books are more than just amusing objects. They are an ever-evolving art form that has been utilized to inspire many young writers and artists in our day by moving and creating great stories. I have spent my entire life honing my skills to be as excellent as possible for this industry since I am aware of this. With these abilities, I'll concentrate on producing amazing animated stories for a lot of other people. My college experience has been very tough and many things felt a bit pressured but they have definitely helped me improve as an individual adult. Learning to be a bit independent and not rely on my parents felt new while learning to create art that I enjoy whilst also being a scholarship athlete for my school and working a part-time job was very taxing at first. Before getting completely used to this flow Covid occurred and halted my progress greatly, both in sports and academics. But during this time I was able to pick up a few new skills by studying some art skills on the side and learned to adapt to this ever-changing environment that we all live in. Adaptability is key in every work field because you never know what to expect and mistakes always happen. Every Graphic Designer knows this and should be prepared to make changes to their current projects to fit the situation needed of them. This experience alone has helped me improve a lot as both an individual and a designer and it is an experience that I value greatly. The following are examples of some of the best works that said experience has helped me craft.

SOCIAL MEDIA CHANNEL CHART

These graphs go over which social media channels are most commonly used for each platform

Platforms Messenger

This graphs displays the difference between the platforms that are used to message friends and family

Platforms Entertainment

This graphs displays the difference between the platforms that are used for entertainment purposes

Platforms Media

This graphs displays the difference between the platforms that are used for media purposes

Conclusion

Based on this research I have determined that Facebook is the most popular and consistently used social media platform by adults. Although it may not be on the graph, nowadays it is used for entertainment also by young and old adults (Entertainment is just not one of its primary use)

Magazine Ad

The advertisement features a vibrant, colorful background with diagonal streaks of purple, blue, and pink. In the top left corner, the Sony logo is displayed in white. Below it, a television monitor shows a group of Fortnite characters. To the right of the monitor, two DualShock 4 controllers are shown: one red and one black. In the bottom left corner, a person's legs and feet are visible, holding a red DualShock 4 controller. The text 'Unleash Your Color with the new Dualshock 4' is written in white, bold, sans-serif font, followed by the price '$49.99' in a larger, bold, sans-serif font.
